Marc Douglas Glenn

Marc Glenn is a member of the Real Estate, Lending and Finance, and the Lending, Workout & Foreclosure groups at Taylor English. Mr. Glenn has extensive experience representing clients of all sizes in all areas of real estate and lending, including in the acquisition, disposition, financing, development, leasing, subleasing and foreclosure of commercial, industrial and multi-family real estate. Prior to joining Taylor English, Mr. Glenn was a member of Bryan Cave LLP, one of Atlanta's oldest and largest law firms.

Mr. Glenn was appointed by the government of the Republic of Iceland as Consul, and he currently serves in this post. In this capacity, he serves Icelandic citizens in Georgia and surrounding states, assisting in various matters related to immigration and local laws. In addition, he represents the government of Iceland at international and business events in Atlanta and around the United States.

In 1997, President Bill Clinton and Secretary of Education Richard Riley appointed Mr. Glenn to serve a three-year term as a Member of the Advisory Committee on Student Financial Assistance. He served with a number of distinguished members of the academic community, including the Chancellor of a large university system. The Committee was charged with providing advice directly to Congress and the President on all matters relating to financial assistance to students seeking undergraduate and graduate degrees.

Mr. Glenn was selected as a Georgia Super Lawyers Rising Star in 2005, 2006, 2007, 2009 and 2011. Rising Stars are "chosen by their peers as being among the top up-and-coming lawyers" in Georgia. In addition, he was featured in a story entitled 'A Hotlantan in the Iceland' in the 2006 edition of the Georgia Super Lawyers Rising Stars publication.

Mr. Glenn and his wife, Kimberly, live in Sandy Springs with their sons, Jonah and Asher, and their dog, Conner.
