

Al B. Hill

Al Hill is a member of the Business Transactions, Corporate and Taxation practice group of Taylor English. His practice includes general corporate representation of small to middle market clients in technology, distribution, manufacturing and service industries. In addition to general corporate representation, Mr. Hill's practice focuses on mergers and acquisitions and strategic capital raises, including assisting clients in obtaining equity capital from private equity and venture capital firms, and debt from asset based and cash flow lenders.

Over his career as an attorney, Mr. Hill has developed expertise in a variety of roles within law firms and corporations. He began his career with the Atlanta firm of Powell, Goldstein Frazer & Murphy, LLP, where he advised technology based clients in general corporate and Mergers & Acquisition matters. He then spent seven years with the former National Service Industries, Inc. (now known as Acuity Brands, Inc.), a NYSE listed industrial conglomerate, serving as Senior Assistant Counsel and as Director of Mergers and Acquisitions. After leading a leveraged buyout in the industrial chemical industry, Mr. Hill returned to the full time practice of law when he joined Taylor English in 2006.
