COMMUNITY COMMITMENT

A strong commitment to civic, charitable and pro bono service is important for any law firm. At Taylor English, we also know that attorneys who are as committed to causes that matter as they are to law are more well rounded, with balance in their lives. In other words, they are better lawyers for our clients.

Through community involvement, volunteerism, and civic leadership, our attorneys are committed to making a positive and sustainable impact on the world. Through both firm and individual contributions, we provide financial support, as well as as board-level guidance, coaching, advocacy, and other forms of volunteer leadership. Together, the attorneys and staff of Taylor English have supported many essential community organizations with thousands of hours and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of support.
